Exclusivity: Thorough Screening Process

All freelancers are put through a robust screening process (technical assessments, interview, background checks) to ensure their skillsets and work experience align with the needs of clients coming to Paro.

Matchmaking

Based on your skills, industry expertise and professional goals, Paro will identify potential project engagements where you may be a great fit. You also have the chance to indicate your interest in other projects via our job board.

Landing Clients

Meet the prospective client to understand their needs and confirm your fit for the project. Finalize the scope of the engagement in the form of a statement of work.

Pro tip: You will be competing with 1-2 other freelancers, so the more thorough and complete your statement of work, the better your odds will be of winning.

Project Kickoff

Paro's Account Managers help facilitate the project kickoff between you and the client. Now you are ready to run the engagement, providing expert support and execution.

Pro tip: The most successful project kickoffs reiterate timeline, expectations, deliverables, and other materials needed within the scope of the engagement. The kickoff call gives all parties an opportunity to re-confirm exactly what is needed to accomplish the desired outcome.

Ongoing Support

While the engagement itself is between you and the client, a dedicated team of Account Managers will continue to work with you and the client to ensure a smooth experience and support you if/when your client is looking to expand scope.
